

Udon Thani Province

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 23 November 2016 09:18

Udon Thani is a province in the northeast of Thailand. It is bordered by the provinces of Nong Khai to the north, Sakon Nakhon to the east, Kalasin Province to the southeast, Khon Kaen to the south, and Loei and Nong Bua Lam Phu Province to the west. The province is divided into 20 districts covering the area of 11,730 square kilometers. It is located 564 kilometers from Bangkok with the population of nearly 1.6 million people, in the city alone, there are approximately 250,000 people. The locals are mainly engaged in agricultural activities, with particular rising in wholesale and retail trading activities. That is why Udon Thani is an agricultural market hub or neighboring provinces. There are many interesting tourist attractions in Udon Thani province.

The Monument of Prince Prajak Silapakom

Prince Prajak Silapakom was one of the sons of King Rama IV. He founded Udon Thani province in 1893. Local people as well as visitors, who travel pass the province, pray to him for success in studying, working, even enlisting. Every year on January 18th, people will gather, dress in traditional clothes in orange and dance around the monument circle as the way to worship him.

Udon Thani Province

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 23 November 2016 09:18

Udon Thani Province is a province in the northeastern part of Thailand. It is the largest province in the region and is known for its agricultural products, particularly rice and sugarcane. The province is also known for its historical and cultural heritage, including the Udon Thani National Park and the Udon Thani Provincial Museum.

The province is a major agricultural hub, with a long history of rice cultivation. It is also known for its sugarcane industry, which has been a major source of income for the province since the 1950s. The province is also known for its traditional crafts, such as silk weaving and pottery.

The province is a major center of education and research, with several universities and colleges. It is also known for its medical services, particularly in the field of cancer treatment. The province is also known for its tourism industry, which is growing rapidly.

The province is a major center of industry and commerce, with several large industrial parks and business centers. It is also known for its transportation infrastructure, including roads, bridges, and airports. The province is also known for its natural resources, including forests and water resources.

The province is a major center of culture and arts, with several museums and galleries. It is also known for its traditional festivals and customs, which are celebrated throughout the province. The province is also known for its sports and recreation facilities, including golf courses and sports stadiums.

The province is a major center of science and technology, with several research and development centers. It is also known for its innovation and entrepreneurship, which is driving the growth of the province's economy. The province is also known for its environmental protection efforts, including the establishment of national parks and wildlife sanctuaries.

The province is a major center of social and community development, with several NGOs and social service organizations. It is also known for its volunteerism and community spirit, which is helping to improve the lives of the people of the province. The province is also known for its social justice and human rights efforts, which are promoting equality and social harmony.

The province is a major center of international relations and cooperation, with several international organizations and embassies. It is also known for its diplomatic and trade relations, which are helping to promote the province's economic growth and development. The province is also known for its cultural and educational exchanges with other countries.

The province is a major center of environmental protection and conservation, with several environmental organizations and initiatives. It is also known for its sustainable development efforts, which are promoting economic growth while protecting the environment. The province is also known for its natural resource management and conservation efforts, which are ensuring the long-term sustainability of the province's natural resources.

The province is a major center of health and medical services, with several hospitals and medical centers. It is also known for its medical research and innovation, which is helping to improve the health and well-being of the people of the province. The province is also known for its medical tourism industry, which is attracting patients from other countries.

The province is a major center of education and research, with several universities and colleges. It is also known for its academic excellence and research contributions, which are helping to advance the knowledge and skills of the people of the province. The province is also known for its educational innovation and reform efforts, which are promoting quality education for all.

The province is a major center of culture and arts, with several museums and galleries. It is also known for its cultural heritage and traditional arts, which are being preserved and promoted. The province is also known for its cultural and creative industries, which are contributing to the province's economic growth and development.

The province is a major center of sports and recreation, with several sports stadiums and facilities. It is also known for its sports and recreation activities, which are promoting a healthy and active lifestyle for the people of the province. The province is also known for its sports and recreation infrastructure, which is helping to attract tourists and investors.